Local Doctor Receives Recognition for Long-Time Service

EUGENE, Ore. -- Richard S. Hoffman, MD, CPI, is being recognized for his service to the ophthalmology community nationwide. The American Academy of Ophthalmology (AAO) has given Dr. Hoffman the Senior Achievement Award for his 20 years of accumulated service with the organization. During the past two decades, Dr. Hoffman routinely has taught courses on several types of eye surgery and techniques to eye surgeons from around the world and led dozens of educational symposia at AAO meetings. Dr. Hoffman also has participated in numerous education committees within the organization; all in an effort to improve the results patients experience after eye surgery.

Dr. Hoffman is an ophthalmologist and surgeon who practices in Eugene at Drs. Fine, Hoffman & Sims, LLC. He is fellowship-trained in all types of cornea and external disease. Dr. Hoffman's specialty is difficult and challenging cataract and refractive surgery cases, and he offers all patients general eye care.
