

Tech Life

by Laurie Brown, COMT, COE, OSA, OCS, CPSS Administrator

Meet the staff at Drs. Fine, Hoffman, Packer, & Sims, LLC Eugene, Oregon

Drs. Fine, Hoffman, Packer & Sims' mission: "We are committed to providing the most technologically advanced, cost-effective patient care, with the highest quality of professionalism." All staff members work toward higher levels of certification. We invest in education. We structure our practice to comply fully with all preferred practice patterns and regulations, and we maintain the highest ethical practice standards. If we discover fault within ourselves, we seek to rid ourselves of it; if we see good in others, we seek to imitate it.

As we live our mission daily, we recognize the incredible value of our certified clinical personnel. Our entire team is empowered to serve our patients and physicians to this high degree in everything we do. Being JCAHPO certified is a demonstrable commitment to a professional career. We strive to maintain our culture of continual improvement by advancing our skill and knowledge levels.

L to R back row: Amber Ambrozaitis, COT, OCS; Jon Cassidy, COMT, OCS; Brandy Hunt, COA, OCS; Suwanna Smith, COMT, OCS; Donnie Hammers, OA; Peggy Coffman, COT, OCS; L to R front row: Wendy Fandino, OA; Sue Stuhr, COT, OCS; Rachel Solberg, COA; Tina Callina, COMT, CCRC; Not pictured: Tony Reynolds, COT, OCS; Laurie Brown, COMT, OSA, OCS, COE.

Our practice concerns itself with applying new technology for the benefit of our patients. Within this framework, we have participated in over forty FDA-monitored clinical investigations. These studies demand scientific integrity and meticulous documentation. We rely heavily on our technical staff to carry out the clinical tests and report the test results. Therefore, we have a responsibility to ensure our ophthalmic technicians and technologists not only work efficiently and accurately, but also that they continue to learn and grow in the field. We thoroughly enjoy working with our outstanding staff members, and they enjoy participating in the evaluation of new technology. Their work proves patient care and research are both team efforts.

"Take the time to teach what you know and to learn what you don't. Everyone wants to grow, to achieve and to be recognized for her or his contribution. Allow your employees and co-workers the opportunity for continual improvement, and you allow your practice the opportunity for continued success."

The staff at Drs. Fine, Hoffman, Packer & Sims definitely live their mission. Everyone on their staff is certified or in the process of becoming certified. Many of their staff either lecture or instruct workshops at both regional CE Programs and the ACE Program. Thank you for all you do!